

MONONGAHELA RAILROAD TIED UP BY FLOOD

Between Landisville, Between
Uniontown and Brownsville
During the Night.

TRACKS ARE WASHED OUT

Heavy rains in Connellsville and All
about City, with accompanying flood and lightning, throughout
the night, have washed out
the tracks up to 12 feet; 200 ft. high.

Following one another in quick succession, Connellsville and other parts of the county were visited
yesterday and today by terrific electrical
and rain storms.

No much damage is reported in the vicinity of Connellsville, but in the section of the county between Union-
town and Brownsville there was a downpour, described as a cloudburst, which completely tied up the road.

Heavy rains are reported at Scottdale
and Mount Pleasant, that at the latter place being pronounced the heaviest in years.

Indications of a deluge in the mountains to the east of the city is found in the Youghiogheny river.
Last evening the stream was at a two-foot stage. This morning at 8 o'clock when the measurement was taken by Patrolman P. M. Rull it was at 12.20 feet and at noon it was at the 12-foot stage and still rising. It is a typical June flood.

Landisville was reported at Garretts and near Indian Creek on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and trains
were delayed, but no transfers were necessary nor were the lines of the Western Maryland railroad used for the operation of trains. Small slides
have been reported at various places
along the main line, besides Garretts
and Indian Creek. A slide was also reported on the O. & B. short line.
Track crews are all out and are succeeding in keeping track moving very
well.

While the heavy rains have swollen
the river considerably, the stage
which will flood tracks and slacken
train operation has not yet been reached.

It was reported on the Western Maryland or Pittsburgh &
Lake Erie.

Heavy minor damage was caused in Connellsville by the high wind.
Specially strong was the blast which accompanied the sudden storm between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning.
Damage was done to trees, branches
dropped from trees and trees uprooted.

Severe slides on the Monongahela
railroad between Uniontown and Brownsville were reported, with the
tracks washed out in many places,
making traffic impossible. All trains, passenger and freight, were stopped indefinitely.

The worst of the storm, which
broke about 2 o'clock this morning
was in the region about Tippecanoe.
Tippecanoe creek was out of its banks
and heavy damage to property resulted.

It was considered improbable that
the cars for coke plants or coal
mines would be placed today.
Reports from Dawson and vicinity
say there was no unusual damage,
although the rain was very heavy.

In many places corn fields are badly washed.

Various Party Leaders.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Senator
Harding, the Republican candidate for President, today will initiate a series
of informal conferences with leaders
of the party.

Decision to hold the conference is understood to have been reached as a result of meeting between Senator Harding
and Walter F. Brown, former Ohio
governor. Invitations are expected to go out at once. Friends
of Senator Harding said today that it was the plan of the nominee to keep
in mind the views expressed by party
leaders in the conferences when he prepared his speech formally accepting the nomination.

DISTRIBUTION OF 10,000 FLY SWATTERS TO START FRIDAY BY BOY SCOUTS

The campaign against the house fly
in Connellsville will be opened by the Boy Scouts on Friday. Scout Executive Edwin L. Folk says every boy who has not been employed to be at the Connellsville school at 1 o'clock.

One thousand fly swatters have been ordered and will be distributed throughout the city by the scouts. The fly will also be taken by traps which will be used to exterminate the disease carrier.

The war against the pests is being
waged by the scouts under the direction of the state board of health.
Every citizen is asked to assist in this state-wide campaign against the fly by using the swatters which will be giving them.

OHIO MINERS SUFFER HUNGER; SHORTAGE OF CARS RESPONSIBLE

Men Working One Day a Week in Bryesville Region, Mine Workers'
Secretary Is Informed.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 17.—Though
miners are receiving the highest wages ever paid and the demand for
coal is far in excess of the supply,
many Ohio miners are actually suffering from hunger, according to George W. Savage, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio United Mine Workers.

Mr. Savage has received an appeal for aid from miners at Bryesville. They say they have been averaging only
one day's work a week for some time,
owing to the car shortage.

According to Mr. Savage, mines furnishing railroad fuel are able to operate on full time and he severely criticizes the Interstate Commerce Commission for alleged discrimination.
"We have been trying for years to get
an equitable distribution of cars," Mr.
Savage said. "The Interstate Commerce Commission has talked but never acted."

LOSS OF BLOOD FROM WOUND IS CAUSE OF DEATH

Case From Eckard Works, Near Star
Junction, Reported to Coroner
S. H. Baum.

Loss of blood from a gunshot wound
sustained accidentally, it is believed,
10 hours previously caused the death
Wednesday morning of Steve Dursa, 18 years old, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dursa, at Eckard works near Star Junction.

Dursa and John Puzak, in company
with some other boys, was walking along the road with linked arms, when the accident occurred. Puzak, it is said, exhibiting a revolver which is reported to have been accidentally discharged.

The members of the party in which
also was Steve Sobchak and Charles Boon, carried Dursa to his home
a short distance away. Efforts to stop the flow of blood from the wound in his leg proved futile and he died from loss of blood. Puzak, after the shooting, is said to have thrown the revolver into a reservoir and to have disappeared after helping the injured
youth home.

Facts in the case were reported to Coroner S. H. Baum yesterday and he has made arrangements to go to Eckard
works today to investigate the
shooting which has not been explained
entirely satisfactorily to officials.

Funeral services for the victim will be held Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock followed by interment in the Lislebury cemetery.

TO DEPORT BOMB PLOTTER

No Other Action Possible Under Law,
Says Secretary Post.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Robert
Ellis, one of the aliens held in connection with the bomb plot of June 2, 1918, was ordered deported today by Assistant Secretary Post after representation to the Department of Justice that deportation was not "the proper remedy."

Ellis was arrested with Andrea Sal-
gado, who killed himself several weeks
ago by jumping from a window in a department of justice office in New York, and Mr. Post said he should be tried under criminal laws before his deportation.

"To deport him would be to translate the operations of the criminal law," said Mr. Post. "Yet this department has no other authority than
to deport. I cannot lawfully hold
any alien in prison indefinitely."

FOLK TAKES CHARGE

Scout Executive Expected to Aid Progress of Scouting Here.

Scout Executive Folk has taken
charge of the progressive scout work
in this city and is already planning for the summer camp, which is the greatest event of the year in a scout's
life. He has been in the Indian creek valley looking over sites and has also
investigated the possibilities of locating somewhere along the Youghiogheny
river.

At present the executive is busy
getting the campaign against the house
fly under way but he is also finding time to work out some of the
preliminary details for the camp.
During the summer months Mr. Folk
will devote his entire time to the scout
work here.

LOCAL PEOPLE HAVE THRILLING EXPERIENCE NEAR STATE COLLEGE

Storm Wrecks Top From Bus and
All Ate Left to the Mercy of Lightning, Wind and Rain.

A party, of which a number of Connellsville persons were members, had
a thrilling experience during the storm which struck the northwestern
part of Huntingdon county about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. While enroute from State College to Tyrone
in a big automobile bus a stop had been made to adjust the side curtains. Before this could be accomplished the storm broke with great
force, a fierce blast of wind lifting
the top of the bus and carrying it against the fence. Almost at the same instant the rain, accompanied by hail
and a vivid electrical display, began
to fall in torrents.

Without protection other than umbrellas and rain coats the occupants
of the bus had no choice but to sit
still and wait for the storm to pass.
The time the storm had subsided
they were drenched to the skin.

Trees were broken and telephone poles blown over by the force of the wind and the highway was flooded by the heavy rain fall. The bus motor
was almost put out of commission but
the party arrived at Tyrone safely
and in time to catch a train for home.

An excellent program has been ar-

sung by the West Penn Quartette and
the Davis Trio. There will also be several readings. At the conclusion
of the musical program the patrol
will give a one act play, "A Scream-

HORSE RUINS HOPES OF BUCKWHEAT CROP

William Smiley, a Dunbar
boy who is now mine foreman
for the Mapletown Coal company in Greene county, motored
over to visit Dunbar relatives
Sunday. He secured of his father, Lewis L. Smiley of Irish-
town, a half bushel of buck-
wheat which he intended sowing
in Greene county. But while he was visiting his uncle, G. W.
Smiley of Keffers, his uncle's
horse while inspecting the automobile, discovered the buck-
wheat and proceeded to eat it.
The horse has been unfit for
work since, and William will postpone sowing buckwheat until next year.

WEST PENN MEN GET MORE PAY; FARES UP NEXT

This is Intimation Following Announcement of Wage Advance.

70 CENTS MINIMUM, HOUR

The West Penn Railway company
has announced to its employees that,
effective Wednesday, June 18, the same scale of wages paid by the Pittsburgh Railway company will be given them. The maximum scale is 70 cents
an hour.

The increase makes the second the
carmen have received this spring, a total of 15 cents an hour. The same increase applies to carmen all over the West Penn lines.

The increase will mean an addition
to the operating expense, which will go over $300,000 per year. The company will have to make an increase in fares to meet this added expense, it is stated, the present income being declared not sufficient to care for it.

TRIED TO HANG HIMSELF

Baltimore & Ohio Officer Released
Prisoner at City Lockup.

Captain R. C. Bledsoe of the Baltimore & Ohio police last night saved
the life of Jerry Cordis, who also goes
by the name of Bob Koekeper, when he attempted to hang himself in the city jail.
Cordis was arrested by the railroad officers after he had attacked Richard Chenoweth, a Pullman conductor, with a knife on Train No. 15. He is being held until the conductor can arrive to testify against him.

Cordis is believed to be insane. On his person he had nearly $1,000 in cash. He acted wild when placed in jail and had succeeded in strapping
himself up by the neck with a belt
and handkerchief when Captain Bled-
soe happened to walk into his cell.
He quickly jerked the noose loose and
revived the man.

Cordis is charged with disorderly
conduct and assault and battery with intent to kill. Attorney S. R. Goldsmith has been retained to defend
him. The hearing was scheduled to be held this morning before Alderman Fred Munk but Chenoweth failed to get here and it was postponed. Cordis
is about 35 years old and is well graced.

FIRST UNIT WEST SPRINGDALE PLANT PLANT READY SOON

One of Two 25,000-Kilowatt Outfits Completed and Under Test.

SECOND BY SEPTEMBER 1

One of the two big 25,000 KVA units
at the $6,000,000 West Penn Power
company central station at Springdale
was completed last week and is now being tested out. By July 1, it is expected, it will be turning its stream of electricity into the lines. The second unit should be operating by September 1.

Construction of the Springdale plant
began in September, 1917, and continued without interruption during the war. Recognizing its importance to the district, the government has advanced $2,400,000 toward the cost of the project.

At Springdale coal will be converted into electricity virtually at the mouth of the mine across the Allegheny river. 4,000 acres of coal are owned or under lease and development
of this is under way. Coal taken out
will be conveyed through a tunnel
under the stream to the stacks of the big boilers. It is estimated that there are 40,000,000 tons right at the door
of the plant. This is coal supply provided for and the uncertainties of rail transportation eliminated. But frustrated with this insurance against
possible shortages, means for unloading rail and river shipments are being provided.

The boiler equipment consists of five 1570-horsepower boilers, capable of evaporating 100 tons of water an hour and whose fire boxes will devour 15 tons of coal an hour. They will have a steam pressure of 350 pounds,
but the actual output is designed
with the idea of operating them
continuously at 450 per cent rating
with good coal, and production under
these conditions 180,000 to 200,000
pounds of steam an hour. This is one of the first plants to be designed for
such high pressure.

Located on the bank of the Allegheny, with ample water supply thus
assured, the possibility of trouble
from high water has not been overlooked. The river has never risen above 33 feet, but the plant is built to take care of a 40-foot flood and protection for three or four feet more
will be possible through the use of
back logs, sand bags and other devices. Flooding ice and leaves, always
a source of trouble, are not expected to hamper Springdale. Double intake
summits, the installation of rotary
screens in the water and an arrangement to discharge the circulating water above the intakes, are some of the provisions to offset this.

The station was planned with the idea of furnishing power in an uninterrupted stream. All the auxiliary
bits of apparatus are duplicated so that the failure of one cannot put the plant out. The switches are the largest and heaviest made, with special
protection against short circuits.

Two more units will be added to the station. These can be installed in less time than the first because of the fact that the deep water work for them has been completed. Whereas the first section of the plant will not be in operation until approximately 21 months
after work was started, only a year
will be required to install the remainder.

At the start, 100 men will be employed. Later this may grow to 200.
The total investment in the plant
alone will be increased about $25,000, 000 when the four units are installed.

THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND IN WAR RISK INSURANCE REVIVED IN COUNTY THROUGH RED CROSS

Through the efforts of the home
service department of the Fayette County Red Cross over $300,000 in war risk insurance held by former service men in the county has been reinstated. Of this amount about $100,000 is in Connellsville alone.

The above total does not represent
nearly all that will be reinstated.
Scores of persons have applied to the bureau for blanks and these are yet to be returned. All are urged to have
this important matter given attention
by June 30.

One of the objections of the insured
has been to the provision that the policy be paid to the beneficiary in installments. This need no longer
stand in the way as the insured may
now designate whether they want their policy in a lump sum or installments.

HOUSE DEMOLISHED BY BOLT, OCCUPANTS ALL ESCAPE UNHURT

Structure at Mount Braddock Ten-
anted by Foreigners Completely Destroyed Tuesday.

DUNBAR, June 17.—To have the
house torn to atoms over their heads,
and the bricks of the chimneys hurled
about them like German shells by lightning and yet escape injury was
the remarkable experience of four foreigners at Mount Braddock Tuesday afternoon. The house stood on the east side of the trolley track near
the passing siding, the second house
from the switch. It had been recently purchased by foreigners, who occupied it. Two men were upstairs in bed asleep, one was eating his dinner
at the diningroom table and the woman of the house was in the kitchen
getting something more for the table,
when the awful crash came. They knew not at first what had really happened. Boards were torn to splinters, the sleepers were rudely awakened by being tossed out of bed and
falling down through what was once
the second-story floor, to the basement; the dishes were tumbled from
the table, and the water turned a double somersault. The woman was protected to the kitchen floor, while debris flew everywhere.

Neighbors, hearing the noise of the
bolt, ran from their homes to see
what had happened and were amazed
to see rising from the fragments of
the building the four persons, none of them injured. They could hardly believe their eyes, for the escape of those who were in the house was not less than miraculous. The family
found shelter in the home of friends.

BRIDE'S ATTIRE '

Society

Miss Margaret Elliott

WEDS GEORGE A. ELLIOTT

The marriage of Miss Margaret Elliott of Pittsburgh, and George Frederick Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Elliott, also of Pittsburgh, was solemnized last night—at 8:30 o'clock—in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. J. H. McLaughlin, in Pittsburgh.

Rev. John K. McClurg, pastor of the Shady Side United Presbyterian church, officiated. The ceremony was performed in the music room before an elaborate and splendid reception of guests.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McLaughlin.

She was wearing a gown of ivory duchesse satin cut en train with delicate borders of rose point lace, the lace falling in graceful folds to the end of the train. Her veil of rose point lace was arranged in quaint cap effect and held in place with clusters of orange blossoms. She wore a diamond and platinum bar pin, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried a bouquet of white roses.

The bridegroom, who was a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, was wearing a tuxedo with silver ribbon. The maid of honor was Miss Lillian H. McLaughlin, daughter of the bride's aunt.

The bridesmaids were Miss Lillian H. McLaughlin, daughter of the bride's aunt, and Miss Lillian H. McLaughlin, daughter of the bride's aunt.

The groomsmen were Mr. J. H. McLaughlin, brother of the bride's aunt, and Mr. J. H. McLaughlin, brother of the bride's aunt.

The reception was held in the music room of the bride's home, where a splendid reception of guests was given.

The bride and groom were accompanied by their parents and the bridesmaids and groomsmen.

The ceremony was a most beautiful and successful one, and the bride and groom were most happily married.

Frocks for Leisure Hours

The two very attractive afternoon frocks which present rival claims to admiration in the picture above, employ the two most favored silk fabrics, georgette and tulle, and each makes the most of this advantageous start. In spite of the disparity in these materials the two frocks have several features in common, both are made with a tunic, both achieve the widened hip lines which fashion encourages and both show the bodice extended over the waistline at the front, forming a straight line, giving less effort. These are all important style features, and each of these frocks is distinctive enough to answer for somewhat more formal dress than the average afternoon frock is equal to.

Taking note of the small items that go to make up the success of the georgette frock it appears that the straight underskirt has no hem, but is finished with a pleated edge. The tulle is long and full draped and shortened at the sides and embellished with handsome embroidery in silk at the front and back. There are three-quarter length sleeves having a narrow band of embroidery at the bottom and, best we overlook the original management of the bodice at the front, embroidery emphasizes it and calls attention to the narrow collar. Four small, silk-covered buttons fall from the ends of the unnecessary but pretty pretense in collar.

In the tulle frock the tunic becomes an apron drapery at the front and back edged with a band of the silk that joins the draperies and widens the hips at the same time. This frock has three narrow cordings along its edge and is set on to the drapery with a cord insuring it considerable flare. This frock has an undraped cut with short kimono sleeves and these sleeves are cuffed near the edge. Below the cords narrow tabs made of folds of tulle carry a narrow ribbon run through them as a finish. The round neck is finished in similar fashion. Sleeves as short as these are infrequent in American frocks, but there is plenty of authority for them in French importations.

RECESS TO CHIT AND SMOKE AT FACTORY

New Scheme Put in Effect to Increase Production of Footwear.

Smoking and chit periods have been introduced at a shoe factory at Marlboro, Mass., in an effort to increase efficiency. Several ideas eliminating non-productive processes have been adopted and other suggestions aimed at time saving are being tried out.

Some of the operatives, it is said, did not take kindly to the experiments and were wondering dubiously what the next attempt of the management to obtain a short cut to production would be. It came in unexpected form and the employees are now discussing that latest idea over their pipes and their knitting "for the company's time."

The speculation over the next efficiency plan was answered by the following announcement: "Production must be increased. Quality must be improved. Beginning tomorrow, operations will be suspended twice daily to allow operatives to rest."

During these periods, which begin at 10 in the morning and 3 in the afternoon, the power of the plant is shut off and the wheels are stopped while the men smoke and the women chat or knit. Then the whir of the machinery begins again and the workers return to their task of making shoes.

REMARRY AFTER 59 YEARS

Couple Parted When Husband Went Away to Fight in Civil War.

Separated 59 years ago, when the young husband left home to participate in the Civil war, Arthur J. Davis, eighty-two years old, of Chicago, and Mrs. Esther L. Davis, eighty, of Hoboken, N. J., have been reunited and remarried.

When the Civil war broke out Davis enlisted, leaving behind him his young bride, who was about to become a mother. No word was received from the husband on the battle line. Finally Mrs. Davis, believing her husband dead, remarried. Richard Lake of Elmira, N. Y., her second husband and guardian of her boy, Arthur, died several years after the marriage.

A few weeks ago the aged Mrs. Lake received a letter containing the first intimation that her husband was alive. After a swift reunion the old nuptial vows were repeated, and the bride and bridegroom will face the final years of life together.

Could Get No Relief Until He Tried Nerv-Worth, But It Soon Brought Desired Results.

"For five years I have been in a very nervous condition," said Rev. Mr. Tate, 421 Pontiac Ave., Dayton, Ohio, and he goes on "I didn't have nerve force to digest my food and I could eat only a few things. Doctors told me not to eat cold lunches. Gas would form on my stomach, and cause terrible bloating. My blood was also in very bad condition, and my circulation poor. My legs would get cold and numb and my hands would also get the same way. I could not find any relief it seemed until I took a bottle of Nerv-Worth and that changed everything. I am nervous no more and I can eat anything any time. My stomach and digestion are in fine condition and I have no more bloating. My circulation is good, and there is now no numbness and cold feeling in my legs and hands. I am feeling fine and have regained my health and vigor."

A statement of a minister is one of the most convincing of proofs. Nerv-Worth has been endorsed by many ministers, doctors, druggists, lawyers, public officials, and people from nearly every walk of life. It has been given their praise because it does the work. It acts in a sensible way to help the sufferer back to health. Nerv-Worth aids digestion, stops gas forming, neutralizes excess acids, drives out impurities, regulates the bowels, cures nervousness, cures nerve force, aids nervous flin, gives sound restful sleep, and invigorates the whole system. Because they know that Nerv-Worth does the work, the manufacturers sell it on a money-back guarantee. Take a bottle home and use it and if you are not satisfied that it is helping you, your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Sold on a money-back guarantee by the Connelleville Drug Company and all leading druggists everywhere.—Ad

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to tell his friends everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Connelleville Drug Co. and C. Roy Helzel have been appointed agents for Allen-rhine in this vicinity with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money to all who state they received no benefit.

Takes Hold and Helps.
Colds that "hang on" should be gotten rid of, for no one can stand the strain of racking cough, disturbed sleep and irritation of throat and lungs. Allen's Hesper, Freeport, Ill., writes: "I had more or less of a cough for years and I have taken quite a number of medicines. None of them takes hold and helps like Foley's Honey and Tar." This old, reliable cough syrup promptly helps coughs, colds, croup, and whooping cough. Contains no opiates. Children like it. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

BOXING BOUT ON FRIDAY

Baseball! There ain't no such animal, not lately at least. Old ump, the rain, knocked that off the map here the last few days. The only way a ball tinner can get in a game is either by wearing a bathing suit or carrying around the diamond in a Adam-and-Eve. The Baltimore & Ohio teams of this city and Smithfield were to play the "big game" yesterday at Fayette Field. In the morning the whole team jumped in and whipped the diamond into great shape and right after the boys had pushed their chairs away from the table after storing away some of that stuff that either gives them plenty of energy or that tired feeling and while they were slipping into their uniforms, down she came. It was a regular rain too.

The game which is to decide the Connellsville division championship, that is providing Connellsville wins, will take place Friday afternoon at 3:30. Chip Francis stated that the diamond looked swell after they fixed it up yesterday and that they will give it a whirl again on Friday morning.

The above line of chatter can also run for the Trotter-Colonial No. 3 game, only the Trotter boys don't have to worry over getting their diamond into shape. Trotter field is like a sponge. The water goes right through and they can play ball an hour after a heavy rain, providing the sun comes out to help it along. Some day we hope to see such a diamond out at Fayette Field.

That, Mr. noise, we heard, and the sound traveled over Trotter way, had that bunch after us plenty today. The noise was made by some of the Leisening No. 1 ball tossers saying that they were ready to play the Trotter team. Well, you folks at Leisening should have heard Smiley and the rest of the Trotter tribe state how anxious they were to hear you chirp. Aside from telling us a fake full they want to know how, when and where you will give them a game.

The Ohio baseball club denies that the game that was to be played at Ohioville Saturday with the Keystone club was cancelled. "We do not know how it was done. It was not cancelled by the management of the Ohio club," Chicago was expected the Keystone team up on Saturday, June 18, as arranged," says a communication from the manager.

BIG CROWD ANTICIPATED FOR UNIONTOWN BOUT
Tickets for the Johnny Donnelly-Tommy Phillips, 10-round boxing bout Friday night were placed on sale yesterday at the Penn bowling alley, Uniontown, and the Smith House in this city. McCloskey reports a heavy sale of tickets last night and predicts that the tickets on sale in Uniontown will be disposed of long before the Dixie Theatre, Uniontown, where the contests will take place, opens its doors. The tickets at the Smith House are a choice lot. They include the ring-side seats and the first rows in the center of the orchestra.

The semi-final, which by the way is the same kind of a bout that the big clubs in Pittsburgh book for their semi-final, is arousing as much interest as the main attraction. This bout featuring Dick Beach-view and Jackie Fromme of Pittsburgh. These boys met once before at the Keystone club and were to be matched for the semi-final of the O'Dowd-Grab bout, but that bout failed to materialize.

Locally all eyes will be focused on the bout between Al Mullin of Trotter and Johnny Polack of Dawson. They will be followed by two middle-weight bouts, a popular Uniontown boy, will meet Freddy Forrest of Brownsville.

The referee question has not been decided as yet. Phillips is holding out for an outsider, either a Connellsville man or a Pittsburgher. This will be settled tomorrow when Phillips makes his entry into Uniontown.

The bouts will start promptly at 8:30 and will be over by 10:45.

JACK DEMPSEY'S WALLOP BROKE ROPE

Half the youngsters who have boxed on the west side of the Rockies knew Jack Dempsey when he was first trying to get started in the boxing ring. Eddie McKenna tells us of one of Jack's first bouts somewhere up in Utah.

"I went in Jack's corner one night when he was boxing one of those birds who stands with his right hand and foot extended," says Eddie. "In the first round the fellow's awkward style puzzled Dempsey and between rounds I started to suggest to him how he should avoid that right hand. Dempsey wouldn't listen at all. 'I'll show you how to handle this stuff,' he said, and, believe me, he did.

"He stepped out of his corner with his right hand and right foot out, just like the other fellow. Then he let go with his left hand. He slammed that fellow so hard that he broke the top rope of the ring and the bird was out for ten minutes."

1c A WORD.

Big League Club Owners May Decide to Abolish World's Series or Divide Net Receipts Among Themselves in Future.

So much trouble in baseball has been caused by the playing of the world's series that the big league club owners may decide either to abolish the games altogether or to divide the net receipts among themselves, says a well known baseball veteran, in Evening Sun.

The players are responsible for the hostile attitude of some of the managers, who say that the squabbles over world's series shares are commercializing baseball to such a degree that sportsmanship soon may be of no importance.

Greedy for gold is creating much ill feeling in the camp of the Yankees. Although the players received handsome salaries last year, with about $500 each extra for winning third position, under the new world's series rules, they grumbled because the groundskeeper, the trailer and two assistant secretaries were included in the melon cutting.

In spite of heavy financial burdens, which the owners of the Yankees have shouldered the players threatened to call a strike unless their demands were granted. They were prepared to deprive their employers of gate receipts from exhibition games, which hardly pay the expenses of the southern training trip.

Avarice on the part of ball players is slowly but surely discouraging and disgusting the public. When the Cubs and Red Sox, during the 1918 world's series in Boston, struck for more money than they were entitled to, under the rules adopted by the national commission, they dealt the game a body blow.

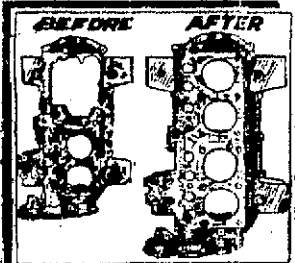

Last year certain players openly expressed a desire to be traded to teams that appeared to have chances to participate in the world's series. Several stars have repudiated contracts for the purpose of getting more money elsewhere.

With charges of collusion between a few players and professional gamblers, shaking the confidence of the fans, it cannot be denied that baseball needs a tremendous shakeup.

Every critic on the coast seems to agree that Holling of the Oaks will be a finished pitcher and ready for the majors after this year.

Manager Hugh Duffy of Toronto seems to have used good judgment when he decided to retain Lefty Quinn, the Mint league pitcher.

The cheers that New York fans give Ping Bodie are backhanded slaps at Manager Miller Huggins, in the opinion of some New York critics.

Facts for Bond Buyers

It is a matter of record that history repeats itself. Right now the same general conditions prevail which have always existed after great wars. Judging from the past, a decrease in the high cost of living will mean an increase in the prices of bonds. Authorities seem to agree that we have passed the peak of inflation.

For information about a number of desirable bonds write for our Investment Suggestions No. B-17.

THE PARADISE

WOMEN'S LIVES—With Theda
Bara, the Japanese woman to be seen in the moving picture
the leading role. Is believed to be a woman who is

Spring from American justice under the impression that he has killed a man, comes to Hilo and Lotus Blossom nurses the man back to health. She wishes to marry him, but her maternal instincts are in him. He soon
loses his Japanese bride and pretends suicide by drowning. He travels
to Honolulu, where he meets and later
marries a San Francisco girl.
Lotus Blossom, who before learning of her husband's supposed death,
had discouraged the attentions of Komo, a Japanese artist, now goes to America, finds Komo and is engaged

as companion by the woman who has married Stanwood. When she finally
meets the man who had wronged her,
her loyalty to the woman who had befriended her, locks her lips.
But the fear of exposure in Stan-
wood's heart goes to him to a cowardly attempt on Lotus Blossom's life. After many tense situations which culminate in an overwhelming denouement,
Lotus Blossom finds happiness with

Komo.
THE SOISSON.
"THE GREATEST QUESTION"—D.
W. Griffith's wonderful picture is being shown today and will also be the feature attraction tomorrow and Saturday.
The story has its setting on a farm,
among home folks. The family is poor, happy and honest until the call
of war takes the eldest son and the support of the family. The boy meets death when, rather than risk the lives

of the submarine crew by opening the conning tower, he permits himself to be swept overboard when the vessel
is compelled to submerge before an enemy destroyer.
The faith of the entire family is
shaken and the earnest, fervent prayers of a mother for six long months
seem to have been mocked. Then "the greatest question" forces its way into the minds of this family. Is there a honor? Do those who are good become merely the same mass of putrid

decay that those who do evil become?
Or, is there some great Father above
who provides the destiny for the good
and that for the bad?

SOME SMILES

Woke Her Up. Mrs. Gotsch—Your husband has been fighting with my Walter and I'd like to settle the matter if I can.

Mrs. Gotsch—Very well. As soon as your Walter can be moved I'll send him home on a stretcher.

Substitute. The Doctor—What you want most is fresh air and sunlight, especially in the morning. Get out in the sun as much as possible.

Mr. Thespie, the Star—There is not much sunlight during my active hours, but I'll see that the electrician keeps the spotlight on me whenever I go on.

Mistake. "Even as close a student as you are may make mistakes," said Senator Bonham.

Another Effort to Explain. "What do you think causes this high cost of living?"

"Too many obliging dispositions," replied Mr. Greacher. "Everybody is trying to keep enough money on hand to meet the extraordinary demands of everybody else."

Don't Treat Kidneys Rough, Warns Dr. Carey, Specialist

Now that Dr. Carey, kidney and bladder specialist, has retired from active practice, he is personally warning people that even the smallest symptoms of kidney trouble should have serious attention.

Stagnant, for instance, puffiness under the eyes, itching before the eyes, heavy feet and dry skin, are also danger signals.

"Thousands die yearly because they neglect their kidneys," says Dr. Carey, and I feel upon retiring that I should tell a few who neglect kidney or bladder trouble about my prescription, Marshbrook, which, turning my active practice, has cured thousands of all kinds of kidney ailments.

This prescription has been given to pharmacists generally throughout America and is dispensed by them under the name Dr. Carey's Marshbrook, a name that every sufferer from kidney trouble should remember. Connellsville Drug Co. and C. Roy Hotel can supply you.—Adv.

Heals Running Sores and Conquers Piles

Also Stops All Itching of Eczema Almost Immediately

"I feel it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Peterson's Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. I began to use the Peterson's Ointment three weeks ago and now it is healed."

A. C. O'Brath, 703 Reed street, Erie, Pa.

"I'd like to get a letter like that, says Peterson of Buffalo, than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to get up to my fellow men."

For years I have been suffering through drugstore after drugstore, but Peterson's Ointment has cured me. The relief power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic. Piles, hemorrhoids do not need to even relieve at night.

It stops itching in five minutes and two weeks and burns it is simply wonderful. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

DIED TO ESCAPE SUFFERING

Crew of Collapsed Man Submarine Took the Fastest Way Out of a Hopeless Situation.

Admiral Sims in the World's War tells of the efficiency of the submarine. One when a submarine had been injured and was lying on the bottom in shallow water a growl came from below. They listened for hours without hearing a sound.

Only one thing in the world could make a sound like that. It was the crack of a revolver. The first report had hardly died when another shot was heard; and then there were more in rapid succession. The listeners on two different channels heard these pistol cracks and counted them; the reports which these men independently made agreed in every detail. In all 25 shots came from the bottom of the sea. As there were from 25 to 30 men in the submarine crew the meaning was too evident. The larger part of the officers and men, finding themselves shut tightly in their coffin of steel, had resorted to that escape which was not uncommonly availed of by German submarine crews in this hideous war. Nearly all of them had committed suicide.

Gen. Benjamin Butler's Wit. General Butler was the leader of the house in 1875 and Samuel J. Randall leader of the Democratic side.

"To avert some of the high cost of living," replied Mrs. Flint. "It kept the moths from eating them."

Economy. "Why did you wear your fur all summer?"

"To avert some of the high cost of living," replied Mrs. Flint. "It kept the moths from eating them."

"Did he do it?"

"Oh, yes. He showed me the door."

A Palpable Hit. "I hadn't been long married before I was very much struck with my wife's management."

"What struck you most about her ways?"

"The rolling pin."

Character Reader. "That woman next door must have great wealth and a lovely disposition."

"How can you tell?"

"She has managed to keep the same look for six weeks."

GOING TOO FAR. "The cook put a lot of herself into everything she does."

"I wish she'd keep her hair out of the soup."

Difference. "A building for my ugly brother and yet he has admirers."

"Who would that be?"

A Dilemma. "Spend it in a bad way about his job."

"He certainly is. He can't settle down and his old man won't settle up."

HIGH BEANS PLANTED IN JUNE WILL HELP SOLVE HIGH COST

One of the greatest dangers in late planting is that in a dry season, there may not be moisture enough in the soil to give the crops a rapid growth.

It is desirable in such cases to water the seed so thoroughly from a hose or pump that the supply of moisture will be replenished. This should be done before the seeds are sown to prevent washing them out and to get a thorough soaking.

The soil should also be spaded and raked or plowed and harrowed before planting. This will put the particles in good condition for plant roots and help to prevent the evaporation of moisture. A light dressing of commercial fertilizer raised in will hasten growth.

Beans, either snap beans or runner beans, are among the best food products in the garden. The early varieties will begin to yield pods for cooking 60 days after planting. Consequently, in any locality where the killing frosts hold off until after the middle of September, one can safely plant up to the middle of July. Bountiful and stringless green-pod are good green-podded varieties. Brittle wax and kidney wax are good yellow-podded sorts.

Green peas are delicious in early fall. It seeds of early sorts are planted before midsummer there is a good chance of getting a crop this season. The best way to plant at this time is in trenches about five inches deep. Sow the seeds in the bottom about one inch apart and cover with two inches of soil. After the seedlings are a few inches high fill in the trenches gradually at each hoeing until the soil is level. This gives the roots a chance to develop in the deeper, cooler soil.

Good supplies of pot herbs or greens are greatly appreciated during the autumn months. Most plants used for this purpose are cool-season crops, so that if the seed is sown about the first of August the seedlings will be ready to grow rapidly late in the month and during September and October. Spinach is one of the best crops for this purpose.

Round-seeded beans are good varieties. Be sure the soil is treated to an application of commercial fertilizer to induce a rapid growth.

Field Mouse, Not Bunny, Is Anathema to Eastern Export.

An official of the state fish and game commission informs us that we are united in the rabbit in its habit of eating all the fruit of trees which has been going on to these parts.

Information says, observes a writer in the Ohio State Journal, that the field mouse is responsible for more than 50 per cent of this damage and we hasten to tender our sincere apologies to the rabbit, whose feelings we would not hurt for the world, and are quick to give the guilty field mouse his just share of censure.

Field mice, it seems have the indefinable habit of burrowing among the roots of small fruit trees in the fall, hollowing out a warm place, as field mice estimate warmth, and spending the winter there. When they get hungry and nothing else is available, they dig up a little way and eat the bark of the tree cunningly making tooth marks almost exactly like rabbits and thus throwing editors and other experts off the scent.

The rabbits are not wholly without sin, but a 40 per cent sinners averages up fairly well with the rest of us. Moreover, the rabbit may easily be fooled by his lapses from grace by placing a piece of paper about two feet in height, or a piece of wire netting around the base of each young fruit tree. Perhaps this expedient, like other prophylactic measures, does not build character in the rabbit, but it does in the orchardist.

Nothing, we understand, can be done about the field mouse unless one stays at the foot of the tree and catches them. They are lost in sin.

Time's Changes in Bibles. Bible, Ariz., where is now heard the hoark of the modern automobile, the flick of winged machines and the wall of smoke of all colors extending over the tops of hills, shoes, was entirely different 100 years ago, reminisces a writer in the New York Herald.

Then the hard-working miner had to struggle for hours to get a seat at a poker table or a "hook in" at a faro game.

Main street was once one of the liveliest thoroughfares in the western hemisphere, saloons, glided and otherwise, having been the honored business enterprises which lined both sides of the street. If anybody had predicted that a street railway would at some future time run through the center of Main street, or that it would some day become as dry and arid as the Sahara and Gobi deserts, he would immediately have been taken before a lunacy commission.

Can You Build a Bird House? The most talented singer in the world, not even excepting the nightingale, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington, is the hermit thrush. A bird house building contest is arousing great interest among school children and the magazine is giving blue ribbons to the prize winners in schools throughout the country.

His Luck. "The real poet is a seer."

Little Lion. Reservoir Park. Three hundred miles south of Salt Lake City and reached by automobile in 1910, Utah, is Little Zion, the most beautiful of American national playgrounds.

The canyon derives its name from the fact that it was known as Zion, Brigham Young and other Mormons visited the spot and the Mormons decided to call it Zion. It is a beautiful playground, a city of a million.

Within the last few years Little Zion has been visited by a large number of tourists and some of them found it "The Rainbow of the West."

When these people came to Little Zion, they found a city of a million. It was a city of a million, a city of a million, a city of a million.

The Man Who Wasn't Himself

By ROBERT AMES BENNET

Copyright, by W. G. Chapman

"That proves what I told Charlie. Of course you don't realize you can't realize."

"Realize what?" he asked, passing in the midst of a long brush stroke.

"Why, about the bonds."

"You mean the bonds lost by your brother?"

"Charlie knows some one who has found out all about them. It must have been a detective. He found the key of the safe deposit vault in your pocket."

"In my pocket?"

"Charlie said the man said the key was found in your pocket. Oh, I forgot. He said it was all secret yet. But of course you're my brother, and you ought to know, and you won't tell, will you?"

"Why should I? Please go on. I fail to understand about the key. But how about it? If it was a detective that found the key, he must have discovered where it belonged and found the safe deposit box."

"That's the horrid part of it," replied Amy. "Charlie says they found the safe deposit box, but the bonds were gone."

Clinton's smile vanished behind a look of blank surprise. "Gone?"

"Yes—and all that money in Chicago in the bank in your new name! What made me so cross at Charlie?"

"You don't see the connection?"

"You don't? Of course, it will be easy for you to explain about the money and—"

"Nothing easier!—Jove! Why didn't I think of it sooner?" he exclaimed.

Heid Out His Bare Forearm.

"I'm tired, and he dropped the hairbrush. 'See here, Miss Lowrie!'"

"Miss Lowrie!" she replied.

"He went on, unchecked: 'You claim that I look exactly like your brother!'"

"There you go again! Don't be silly!"

He sprang up, clear of the eager arms that she sought to fling around him.

"No, wait!" she exclaimed, as she jumped up after him. "It's—it's not what you suppose—just the opposite."

"Opposite!" she repeated.

"I said, I actually began to believe—to doubt my own identity. But at the Athletic Club—Tell me, you say I look exactly like your brother. That must be the best one ever who knew him—yet there's one thing. Had he any peculiar mark—a mole or scar, for instance—let us say, on his arm?"

"Why, of course. Everybody knows it; everybody has seen it when you play tennis."

"Seen what?"

"Don't pretend! The mark on your arm below the elbow."

"Which arm?"

"The girl's brown eyes began to dilate. 'What—what makes you talk this way?'"

"Which arm is the mark on?" he insisted.

She replied in a half whisper: "The right."

He drew up the loose sleeve of his robe and held out his bare forearm. She stared at it incredulously.

"Well," he queried.

"It—it can't be that I'm—that it's the other?" she murmured.

He bared the left arm. "You see—can there be a more positive proof of identity than such a mark as that on your brother's arm—which is not on my arm?"

The vague dread that clouded her dilated eyes swiftly increased to a paralyzing terror. She stared at him as white-faced and immobile as a marble statue. Stricken with concern for her, he bent forward. Instantly her cheeks flushed scarlet with maidenly shame. She clutched wildly at her loose hair and fled to the door. In a twinkling she was out in the hall, with the door shut between herself and Clinton.

He had not moved. For some time he stood where she had left him. His body was motionless, but it was evident that his thoughts were in a whirl of almost violent emotions. Across his face, in quick succession, passed looks of bewilderment, pity, delight, tenderness. Last of all came conviction, and again pity, both of which merged into resolution.

From the closet he brought out his suitcase and the suit that he had worn on his arrival in town. Next came a rummage through the dresser and closet to restore to the suitcase the articles that had been taken from it. Some he could not find.

He dressed himself in the suit so neatly tailored by old Tilly, and glanced around the room, preparatory to closing the suitcase. The hairbrush, lying on the door where he had dropped it, caught his eye. He picked it up and gazed at it several moments. He then went to the mantle, where stood the framed photographs of Ellen and Amy.

When he returned to his suitcase one of the frames was empty.

CHAPTER IX.

In a Box.

After half a night spent in weeping, alternately chilled with doubt and scorched with the shames of mortified modesty, Amy had at last fallen into the heavy sleep of exhausted nature.

The morning sun found her still lying as she had flung herself in the shadow of her grief. Her face still had a little of the look of a child that had cried itself to sleep. Her hair lay across her tear-stained pillows in two exceedingly tight braids.

Her usual awakening time passed; an hour slipped by, and another. Still she lay fast asleep. At last old Tilly came into the room, looked doubtfully at the sleeping girl, went out, returned with a package, and after a respectful pause, touched the broad white forehead.

The brown eyes opened slowly and looked up, clouded with slumber and the memory of grief. Tilly held out the package. "I'm awfully sorry to wake you, Miss Amy. But it's about ten o'clock and everybody's gone, and—"

"Ten o'clock?"

"Yes. Missus Kirkland and Miss Ellen left half an hour ago, when they found Mr. Will was gone."

"He has gone! And they went—without telling me?"

"Missus Kirkland said you looked like you must've been ill in the night, and for me to let you sleep till you woke up. But when this came, I thought 'pshaw!'"

"What is it?" asked Amy, holding out her hands for the package.

"I dunno. A messenger boy brought it. He wanted a sign because the address had made him lost. All round Robin Hood's barn before he got here."

Like Pandora, Amy gazed uncertainly at the box—and ended by opening it. Within lay a new hairbrush, the duplicate of her own. She blushed scarlet, and was about to clap on the cover of the box when she perceived a note tucked in under the handle of the brush. She glanced apprehensively around her dainty pink room, and after several moments of hesitancy, drew out the note as if it were a bomb.

The writing was in a bold sharp hand, very unlike the copper-plate script of her brother:

"My dear Miss Lowrie:

"May I ask you to accept the enclosed brush in place of the one which, I see, I carried off with me in my suitcase? I must also acknowledge having purloined one of the photographs from the mantle. My justification is that I need it to keep me mindful of my little sister's relationship to me until such time as my identity is established.

"Very respectfully,

"Your brother pro tem.,

"RICHARD CLINTON."

She slipped out of bed and stole barefoot through the hall to the door of her brother's bedroom. She opened the door a little way and peeped across at the mantle. The frame of one of the photographs was empty. In the other she saw the beautiful serious face of Ellen.

She scurried back like a frightened mouse, hid the brush and note under her pillows, and popped into bed. When Tilly came up with the chocolate,

WAS NERVOUS AND RUN DOWN

RESTORED TO NORMAL HEALTH BY BIO-FEREN

"I feel I owe you people a world of gratitude for the benefit I have received in using your wonderful remedy—Bio-Feren Tablets, which have completely restored me to normal conditions," says Joseph E. Webb of Muncie, Indiana.

Bio-Feren is without doubt the grandest and quickest remedy for nervous, run down, weak, nervous men and women ever offered direct through the druggists and is not at all expensive.

Take two after each meal and one at bed time, and after seven days take one after each meal and one at bed time until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if you are not in better health—if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen minded, yes, twice as much as you did before, the druggist who sold you the tablets will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand, or can easily get it for you.

late, the girl was cuddled under her coverlet with only the tip of her nose showing.

"Why, Miss Amy! You're not took worse, are you?"

"The light," came back a muffled voice. "Pull down the blinds, please."

As Tilly hastened to obey, the voice called after her: "Don't worry, I'll soon be all right again. Leave me chocolate. I'll get up in a little while. There's the postman's whistle."

Tilly hastened downstairs for the mail. When she returned Amy was almost dressed to go out. She forestalled the expected protest with a quick explanation: "Now don't say anything, Tilly. I'm going down to consult doctor."

"That's good, if you're feeling bad, Miss Amy."

The girl faced away from the affectionate, near-sighted eyes. "Yes. If you'll do my bidding, please."

Five minutes later she was running the coupe from the little garage out through the green arbor of the pergola. She reached Doctor Kirkland's office before his regular morning hour, but the attendant was present and admitted her to the private waiting room.

When the physician came in his look was grave even before he saw her face.

"You're here, sweetheart—without your smile," he said. "Then Will has not come home?"

"Will?" she exclaimed. "You still call him that?"

"Why not?—Child you've not let him persuade you—"

In our store, you can hear the phonograph that substituted for Anna Case—

and then the LIGHTS went OUT and astonished all New York in the audacious "Dark-Scene" Test.

Read below what the New York newspapers said of the test. Remember—the marvelous instrument used in New York City was an exact duplicate of the original Official Laboratory Model, which cost Mr. Edison three million dollars in research work. We, too, have an exact duplicate of the famous three million dollar original. We guarantee that it is capable of sustaining all the astonishing tests made on March 10th, at Carnegie Hall, New York City.

Come in and hear this guaranteed Official Laboratory Model. Experience its marvelous realism for yourself. We give Mr. Edison's unique Realism Test.

The NEW EDISON

"A portion of the demonstration was even carried on without the lights, so that no one could see whether Miss Case's lips moved or not. It was all genuinely instructive, and the twinship between Miss Case's singing, and the reproduction thereof, proved so close as to be often indistinguishable."

—New York Globe.

"When you see and hear Miss Case sing, you can scarcely believe that an act so essentially individual and personal as hers could ever be reproduced mechanically, yet the New Edison has succeeded to the point where the voice in the fluffy pink draperies and the voice in the mahogany box seemed one and the same."

—New York Evening Mail.

"When the lights were lowered, it was impossible to tell when it was Anna Case, and when it was only her voice that was singing."

—New York Evening Sun.

The "dark scene" test was positively sensational in its proof of the realism of the New Edison.

Anna Case, the world-famed soprano, stood beside a dignified Chippendale cabinet. She started to sing. Her voice enthralled the audience with its colorful brilliance.

Suddenly the lights went out. Densest black swallowed stage, phonograph and singer.

When you come in, ask about our Budget Plan. It makes the dollar go farther—the New Edison comes easier.

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

But Miss Case's voice went smoothly on. It rose to the very heights of its superb artistry.

Then, the lights flashed on! The audience gasped with astonishment. Case was gone! Her voice had been coming from the New Edison.

Under cover of the darkness, Miss Case had stolen from the platform, leaving the New Edison to continue her song alone. The audience never knew she had gone, till the lights went up.

The exact duplicate of this instrument is here in our store, waiting to prove its perfect realism to you.

"His arm"

"Well?"

"The mark was not there."

Doctor Kirkland smiled and patted her on the shoulder. "You poor child! It is merely that he has had the mark removed. Certain things are not to be done."

"Then you still really believe he is not some one else?"

"He is your brother, child," the physician answered with satisfying positiveness.

Amy pressed her chubby hand to her lips and murmured in profound relief: "You dear, dear old comfort!"

The door opened and Ellen burst wildly into the room. Her mother, no less agitated, hurried in after her, but retained enough presence of mind to close the door. The half-distracted girl ran to cling to her father's arm.

"Papa! papa! Quick!" she panted. "Help him! Don't let them!"

"Hush," he commanded in an authoritative tone that at once quieted her to a semblance of her usual composure. "That is better. Now, what is the matter?"

"He—he was going away, and they stopped him and took him to jail! Oh, papa!"

"Hush," she cried. "Will he fall?"

"Hush. We shall soon make it all right, whatever the trouble may be," stated Doctor Kirkland, and he looked at his wife.
